New Hope Edged 56-54

Playing before 600 fans in the New Hope gym, the Exchange Clubs' annual basketball tourney was kicked off Tuesday with South Hunterdon Regional defeating Morrisville, 60-47 and Princeton Day School nipping New Hope, 56-54.

In the opening game it was a case of too much height on the South Hunterdon team for the Morrisville Bulldogs to overcome although they did narrow the gap to two, 31-29 at halftime. In the third quarter the Eagles outscored the Bulldogs 18-8 to build a lead they never relinquished.

The Eagles' Gary Cavallo led all scorers with 25 points, followed by Lee Hendricks with 16. For Morrisville Greg Jones was tops with 15. Jeff Osborne netted 11 as did Tony Marcucci.

New Hope made a gallant try to pull out a victory over Princeton Day School in the nightcap but fell two points short and lost 56-54. Princeton led by as many as

The Fourth Annual Doylestown Area Jaycee Basketball Tourney got underway Tuesday night in the Sidney Neumann Gymnasium on the Delaware Valley College campus with Lebanon Valley (8-1) defeating Ursinus (3-2) 70-53 in the opener and Glassboro State (3-4) swamping Delaware Valley (2-4) 74-49, in the nightcap.

Both games served as a tune-up for the winners and the double header tonight, starting at 7, will pit four evenly matched teams competing against one another.

In the opening game the Ursinus Bears were no match for the towering, hot shooting Flying Dutchmen from Annville after making a run at them in the first half.

Ursinus shut out Lebanon Valley for the last four minutes of the half while scoring eight points themselves to narrow the lead to 34-31 at the intermission.

Don Johnson, a 6-2 junior led the Dutchmen with 24 points, scoring from all over the floor including driving layups. Classmate Kris Linde, who towers 6-6 was next with 18 and he set out most of the second half with three personal fouls. Bill Ammons, who goes three inches taller than Linde at 6-9, hit for 13.

Captain Gary Schaal led Ursinus with 15 points, followed by Mike Weston's 13. Jack Messenger scored all his eight points in the second half when the Bears were held to 22.

Linde and Johnson led Valley in the first half with 25 of the team's 34 points, and both had hot hands in doing it. Linde hit his first five shots from the corners, making eight of 10 attempts for his work.

Johnson, who plays fast basketball on both offense and defense opened the game with a basket from underneath, didn't score for almost seven minutes and then finished with a flurry before the Dutchmen went cold.

Ursinus played a zone defense throughout the game whereas Valley played man to man in the first half and switched to zone in the second because of foul trouble.

With Johnson leading the way in the second-half the Dutchmen jumped to a 13 point lead, 59-37 and were never in trouble.

Lebanon Valley coach Roger Gaekler said after the second game, and he knew he would be playing Glassboro for the championship. "We didn't run and we do that best. We are not rebounding like we should and we will have to do a lot better if we expect to win the finals."

Glassboro Romps

Glassboro State had little trouble with a cold shooting, 21 for 63. Delaware Valley team. With the Aggies missing their first six shots, the Profs jumped out to a 10-0 lead. John Silan and Steve Shelly broke the dearth with back to back baskets to make the score 10-4, but after both teams took turns scoring six points, the Profs poured it on with the help of a full court press and a fast break to

BACK IN ACTION—Ralph White (30) Delaware Valley drives past Dom Carrera, Glassboro State, in first half action in Jaycee Tourney Tuesday night. This was the first playing White has done since spraining his ankle against Upsala. The Profs defeated the Aggies, 74-49, and will meet Lebanon Valley tonight for the championship.

outscore the Aggies, 16 to 6 and 10 to 6 to lead at the half, 42-22.

As was the case in the first game, Glassboro was hot from the field, shooting 30 for 69, while DelVal could only hit 21 for 63.

The key to the Profs' success was the balance in the scoring. Bob Bachman was tops with 20 and Al Szolack hit for 13 and following them were three players with seven. Bachman scored 14 of his 20 in the first half, and Szolack hit eight of his 13 in the same period.

Delaware Valley couldn't get started and with their cold shooting, Bob Polinsky was the only Aggie to score in double figures making it with 10. Steve Shelly managed nine, but missed four foul attempts, an oddity for him.

Winning coach Jack Collins remarked after the game, "this is the best we have played in a long time. We like to run and the fast break was working well tonight."

When asked about the game with Lebanon Valley for the championship he said, "it will be a tough game. They have four starters back from last year and will have a height advantage. Yes it will be a tough one."

Both games should prove interesting tonight. Delaware Valley and Ursinus at 7 will pit two evenly matched teams that should keep the score close for 40 minutes. In the championship affair, both squads shot over 50 per cent Tuesday night, both like to drive and fast break. For basketball fans the final alone is worth the price, but you get an extra one for free.

In the four years the tourney has been run, this final night should be the most exciting of them all. It certainly will be in the caliber of play the fans will see.

Penn will meet St. Bonaventure for the championship Wednesday night. St. Bonaventure earlier defeated Rochester, 84-60, behind the shooting of Matt Gantt, Paul Hoffman and Glen Price.

Southern California cut the deficit to 41-37 at halftime but Penn, behind the shooting of Morse and Phil Hankinson, pulled away midway through the second half after the Trojans lost their backcourt ace, Paul Westphal, on fouls.

Hankinson had 21 points and Morse 20. Joe Mackey led USC with 17.

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Veteran Norm Ullman, playing in his 18th National Hockey League season, scored in each period for the hat trick Tuesday night to lead the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 4-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

The veteran put Toronto ahead 1-0 at 11:31 of the first period by flipping home a short rebound off Dennis Dupere's slap shot, then scored again at 4:21 of the second period by steering Jim Dorey's shot from the point past screened Pittsburgh goalie Les Binkley.

Bill MacMillan fired a 10-foot feed from Dorey into the net to give Toronto its 3-0 lead. Ullman got his third goal of the game—and his 14th of the season—on an empty net breakaway at 19:42 of the final stanza.

THE START—Holding Olympic Torch, the first runner leaves Olympia, Greece enroute to Athens. The flame was lit Dec. 28 and will be flown to Okinawa for the 11th Winter Olympiad in Sappora, Japan, on Feb. 3, 1972.

The tale of the teller and the man who wanted to be number one.

Once upon a time, there was a man who didn't like the holiday season because he didn't think the holiday season liked him. He walked through crowds and got bumped, bruised and battered. He went shopping and got ignored. He waved at sidewalk Santas and they wouldn't wave back. He became convinced that he was number 156. Or even 239. Sometimes he got so discouraged he sagged to 312. Or worse.

So, to pick up his spirits he went to Continental Bank to make a deposit even though he didn't need to make a deposit. He just needed to feel Number One all over. (We all get that way sometimes.)

Lo and behold, he walked into Continental feeling like number 451 and came out feeling like Number One. Most of the time our Tellers make most of the people feel like Number One.

In fact, this man felt so good when he left the Bank that he did something very interesting and provocative. Frankly, it would fascinate you. But that's another story.

Happy holidays.
