

Columbia Rallies to Beat Penn, 14-10; Brown, Rutgers Remain Undefeated

By MICHAEL STRAUSS

Special to The New York Times

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2—Having seen Pennsylvania move to a 10-0 halftime lead, Columbia's Coach Bill Campbell emerged from his halftime "chat" with his players saying: "All we have to do is stop making mistakes."

Apparently the message came through loud and clear. The Lions proceeded to score a touchdown in each of the final two quarters today and made no additional turnovers, as they registered a 14-10 triumph over their hosts.

The victory marked the first time a Columbia eleven had triumphed at Penn's Franklin Field since 1962. It also is the Lions' best start—it now boasts two victories and one defeat—in six seasons.

The visitors' big gun proved to be Jay Hickey, a 193-pound junior half-back from Melrose, Mass. The elusive ball carrier accounted for both of Columbia's touchdowns. He ran for 37 yards for his first one in the third period and then scooted 14 yards midway in the final quarter to clinch the decision.

Hickey negated the early loss of Bruce Stephens, the Lions' leading rusher. The 168-pound junior from Phenix City, Ala. was sidelined after 9½ minutes of play, with a head injury. A hard tackle after a 13-yard run round the left end brought about Stephen's exodus.

Paul McCormick, the backup man for Stephens and Hickey, filled in superbly. The Columbia junior emerged

Continued on Page 8, Column 6

The New York Times

Published: October 3, 1976

Copyright © The New York Times

Columbia Rally Tops Penn, 14-10

Continued From Page 1

as the game's second best ground gainer travelling 101 yards on 25 carries.

"McCormick certainly did a fine job," said a delighted Campbell in the locker room clutching the game ball that his players had just handed him. "Bruce Stephens had recovered sufficiently to return but I didn't want to take a chance.

"In view of the way the game went, we had to be good and we had to be lucky," concluded the Columbia coach. "We were both."

In contrast to two key miscues made by the visitors in the first half, a fumble as well as a pass interception, Penn was guilty of the mistakes after the intermission. The Red and Blue made its only two fumbles and threw its only interception in the second half.

Through the first two quarters, the home team, displaying a fair aerial attack—it completed four of nine passes—dominated the issue. Tim Mazzetti booted a field goal in the opening moments.

Then, in the second quarter, the Quakers registered their only touchdown just before halftime after passes by Bob Graustein had set up the tally. Dennis Grosvenor accounted for the score on a short plunge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2 (AP)—Jim Kubacki, a senior quarterback, ran for two touchdowns, passed for two more and accounted for 277 yards as Harvard overwhelmed Boston University, 37-14, today at Harvard Stadium.

The victory, before 14,000, kept Harvard undefeated at 3-0. Boston University dropped to 1-2.

Kubacki broke the game open for Harvard late in the second period with an 80-yard touchdown pass to his split end, Larry Hobdy.

Boston University had scored first on a 1-yard run by Mike Morrison, but Kubacki scored twice, from the 5 and the 1.

The Terriers tied the score on its biggest play of the game, a 69-yard touchdown pass from Greg Geiger to Greg Jones.

Harvard scored on Kubacki's pass and, in the second half added two touchdowns and a field goal.

Dartmouth 45, Holy Cross 7

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 2 (UPI)—Kevin Case ran for two touchdowns and passed for another today to lead undefeated Dartmouth past inexperienced Holy Cross, 45-7.

Case broke open a tie contest in the second period with touchdown runs of 2 and 3 yards and a 37-yard pass to Harry Wilson as Dartmouth notched its third victory of the season.

Curt Oberg of Dartmouth, who carried for 128 yards for his second straight 100-yard game, had put the Big Green on top in the first period with a 4-yard run.

Holy Cross, which started six freshmen and played 11 first-year men in the game, matched that score early in the second period when Peter Colombo burst through the left side of the Dartmouth line from 7 yards out.

Dartmouth increased its margin to 31-7 late in the third period on a 23-yard field goal by Nick Lowery after a 13-play drive stalled on the Holy Cross 6.

The Crusaders won-lost record is now 0-3.

Yale 21, Lehigh 6

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 2 (AP) — John Pagliaro, a junior halfback, rambled for 193 yards and two touchdowns today to lead the Elis to a 21-6 college football victory over previously unbeaten Lehigh.

Pagliaro's performance, the third best single-game rushing total in Yale history, included a run of 52 yards and a touchdown dash of 75 yards. He carried 17 times.

The legendary Albie Booth, who gained 223 and 194 yards in different games, has the top two rushing performances in Yale history.

After a scoreless first half during which Yale was stopped three times inside the Lehigh 30-yard line, the Elis scored on their first possession of the third quarter.

Pagliaro took a pitchout and sliced 6 yards into the Lehigh end zone. The touchdown was set up by an interception by the Yale monster back, Scott Rooth, at the Lehigh 31.

Yale then forced Lehigh to punt. And on the next series Pagliaro took off round the left corner for a 75-yard touchdown run along the sideline.

Lehigh closed the gap to 14-6 late in the third quarter when Mike Rieker capped a 20-yard drive with an 11-yard touchdown pass to Rod Gardner. The drive was set up by a Yale fumble.

Yale clinched the victory at 9:05 of the fourth quarter when Bob Rizza, making his first start, threw a 15-yard scoring pass to Gregg Hall.

The victory improved Yale's won-lost record to 2-1. Lehigh is now 3-1.

Boston College 17, Navy 13

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Dave Zumbach of Boston College caught his first two passes of the year today and both were good for touchdowns as the Eagles beat Navy, 17-13.

Zumbach hauled in a 35-yard pass from Ken Smith late in the first quarter for the first Boston College score. Then with two minutes left in the half and heavy rain falling, the senior end pulled down a 23-yard pass from Smith coming down with both feet just inches inside the end zone.

That was enough for the Boston College defense which didn't allow Navy inside its 30-yard line until the final period when the Midshipmen got their two touchdowns.

A reserve quarterback, Bob Leszczynski, came off the bench to move Navy 60 yards for the first touchdown, with Larry Klowinski carrying over from fullback from the one-foot line.

On the next possession, Leszczynski guided the Midshipmen 89 yards in 17 plays. Joe Gattuso plunged over from the 3-yard line for the touchdown.

The final Boston College score came on a 28-yard field goal by Tim Morrison in the third period after a 49-yard drive bogged down.

The New York Times

Published: October 3, 1976

Copyright © The New York Times

By DEANE MCGOWEN

Special to The New York Times

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 2—Undefeated Brown produced strong offense and defense this afternoon in Palmer Stadium to beat Princeton, 13-7, in an Ivy League football game.

The victory was Brown's fourth in succession over Princeton and its third over all and second in the Ivy League this season. The Bruins are now in first place in the league.

Princeton's loss was its second in three games, after a season-opening triumph over Cornell.

Brown Dominates

Brown dominated this contest almost from start to finish, taking a 13-0 lead into the clubhouse at halftime. Princeton never got into Brown territory in the first quarter and did not make a first down until midway through the second. The Tigers managed to drive into Brown territory only twice before the intermission.

In the first quarter, Paul Michalko, Brown's seasoned quarterback, took his team 50 yards in 10 plays on a sustained ground attack that ended in the Princeton end zone on Bill Hill's 3-yard scoring burst. Greg Rorke booted the extra point to give Brown a 7-0 lead at 12 minutes 33 seconds of the opening period.

Princeton, without a seasoned quarterback was unable to mount any offense of note. In fact, the Tigers frequently were their own worst enemy, with penalties and mixed-up plays.

Kirby Lockhart, Princeton quarter-

Continued on Page 9, Column 1

The New York Times

Published: October 3, 1976

Copyright © The New York Times

Brown Tops Princeton For Third in Row, 13-7

Continued From Page 1

back, made his first throwing miscue of the game late in the first period when he fired a pass directly into the hands of Brown's left linebacker, Scott Nelson, on the Princeton 38.

In seven plays, Michalko moved his team across the goal line again. Seth Morris, just one of a half-dozen good Brown running backs, slammed the final 2 yards just 1 minute 35 seconds into the second period.

The Princeton fans in the crowd of 12,000 had little to cheer about through the third quarter. The Bruins just missed a third touchdown early in the period when Wally Shields, who gained 65 yards on 18 rushes, fumbled at the Tiger 8-yard line. Dave Flowers recovered to halt Brown's drive, which had started from its own 36.

But the Tigers were blunted, and Brown took over again after a punt. The Bruins drove to the Princeton 14, and on fourth down Rorke tried a field goal that was blocked by Hank Howarth, the defensive right end.

Then the Tigers launched their best march of the game. Having started on their 12, the Tigers went all the way, 88 yards in 21 time-consuming plays. Gary Larson capped the march on a 1-yard plunge, and Chris Howe booted the extra point.

The major occurrence of this march was a pass-interference call against Brown's Roger Key, who was covering Todd Caliguire deep on the right side of the end zone. The officials gave Princeton the ball on the Brown 1.

Suddenly Princeton was back in a game in which it had been thoroughly outplayed. There were more than 7 minutes to play. But Brown's defense was impregnable in the closing minutes, and the Tigers never again threatened.

The New York Times

Published: October 3, 1976

Copyright © The New York Times

By PARTON KEESE

Special to The New York Times

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Oct. 2—Continuing to keep its spotless record clean against the doormats of the Ivy League, unbeaten Rutgers defeated a victoryless Cornell football team, 21-14, today in its first home game.

The Scarlet Knights' fourth triumph extended two records: Its own as co-holder of the nation's longest winning streak (11 games) and Cornell's losing skein, which is now 10 in a row.

The defense-minded Knights held off the Big Red for the first half, but had to rely on Kennan Startzell to boot two field goals for a 6-0 lead. The freshmen soccer-style kicker was successful from 24 yards out and 34 yards out, which gave him five field goals for the season. Startzell later missed three attempts, from 32, 45 and 43 yards.

Cornell, having lost its first two contests by 3 points and 5 points, rallied in the third quarter on the passing arm of Jim Hofer and the catching of Eamon McEneaney. Following a partly blocked Rutgers punt by

Continued on Page 9, Column 1

The New York Times

Published: October 3, 1976

Copyright © The New York Times

Rutgers Defeats Cornell

Continued From Page 1

Jim Lorditch, Cornell went 48 yards for a touchdown and conversion to lead, 7-6.

Hofher, a sophomore quarterback who substituted for Mike Tanner in last week's game against Colgate and came to be the starter today, hurled a 13-yarder to McEneaney in the end zone. The 155-pound McEneaney proved to be an elusive target for Rutgers' defensive team all day by catching nine passes for 114 yards.

He caught another touchdown pass from Hofher in the final period, but by then there were only 90 seconds left and Rutgers had tallied two touchdowns for a 21-7 lead. The Knights proved they were most dangerous when threatened with a loss.

Bert Kosup, the Rutgers quarterback who had been benched most of the third quarter for not moving his team offensively, returned—angry and on target. He threw three passes in the Knights' first scoring drive, a 25-yarder to Jim Walling and a 14-yarder to Mark Twitty for the touchdown.

When Bob Davis intercepted a Hofher toss, Rutgers got its running attack straightened out to let Mike Fisher take the ball over from the 3. It looked like the clincher.

However, Cornell marched 77 yards in four plays to score and make the Rutgers fans edgy. Hofher passed 33 yards to Tim LaBeau on a screen play and then found McEneaney alone in the end zone from 17 yards out.

With less than a minute remaining, Cornell's linebackers, led by Terry Lee and Dave Johnson, held Rutgers on downs to force a punt and allow the Ivy Leaguers one more shot. From their own 23, the Big Red players could advance only to the 44 before time ran out.

The contest developed one definite trend: Rutgers would run well inside the 20's, gaining a total of 213 yards on the ground to Cornell's 57 yards. But once the Knights reached the Cornell 20, the defense woke up and held Rutgers to either a field goal or a zero.

A good example of this came at the end of the first half. Jim Hughes of Rutgers carried an interception back 70 yards to the Cornell 3-yard line. When the half ended, Rutgers was back 15, and missed its field-goal attempt.

Cornell, which gained 216 yards on Hofher passing, could not develop a running game, and in the end, that is what made the difference between the squads.

Glen Kehler, the fullback, again starred for Rutgers. In 26 carries, the 170-pound sophomore from Westfield, N.J., ran for 139 yards. Neal Hall, the only runner of significance for Cornell, totaled 51 yards for 16 attempts.

Twitty, a Rutgers senior, recorded the 12th touchdown reception of his career, which is one short of the school record, set by Bob Simms, 1956-59.

The New York Times

Published: October 3, 1976

Copyright © The New York Times